4170 Series
Point of Sale System

The 4170 POS System delivers the latest POS technology, high reliability and exceptional system flexibility that retailers need to be successful. The 4170 is designed with an Intel® dual-core processor, durable components and numerous interface connections, ensuring a retailer's investments are protected.

Greater Performance

- Advanced electronics include an Intel® dual-core processor, delivering high performance that is ideal for a retailer's mission critical business applications.
- An Intel® embedded long-life chip set delivers a proven platform that satisfies demanding retail requirements and provides support for future emerging technologies.
- The internal power supply provides a clean system setup and eliminates the need for bulky wall power bricks.

More Flexibility

- A small physical footprint that will fit into any retail configuration.
- A variety of interface connections provide a platform that can support a wide range of POS peripherals.
- An expansion slot and a number of best of breed POS peripheral options are available allowing retailers to configure a solution that fully meets their needs.

Better Uptime

- A truly durable design that provides the perfect POS hardware solution for the toughest retail environments.
- Designed for easy maintenance and quick access to all ports and connections, ensuring uninterrupted operation.
- The reliable, high efficiency power supply drastically reduces power consumption.
